

Governor Durbin Will Go Gunning in Texas State

His Purpose Is Not to Avenge Senator Bailey's Attack on Senator Beveridge, but to Seek Other Game—He Is Not Alone.

SOME ADVANCE SNAPSHOTS OF THE GOVERNOR IN THE TRAIL.

"Mother, there is going to be trouble in Texas. The maker of this startling announcement was Father Quail and he was addressing his wife, as they sat under a sage bush in the Lone Star State and watched their numerous progeny hopping about."

"What's the matter, my dear?" soothingly answered Mother Quail. "It is not often you get so excited as to be profane. Is Senator Beveridge coming down here to take a fall out of our own Senator Bailey?"

"Worse than that, mother; worse than that. It is the time for us to see the life insurance agents and make arrangements for the future. Governor Durbin, of Indiana, is coming here on a hunting trip, and with him is W. L. Taylor, Attorney-General of Indiana; Col. Ernest Tripp, of Indianapolis; and Col. N. C. DePauw, of New Albany."

"Oh, they won't bother with little things like us. They want bear and panther and buffalo and all that, you know. You are unduly alarmed, my dear husband. I don't want to unduly alarm. Don't you know that Colonel Tripp is the champion wing shot of the country, and panthers and bears and such don't have wings. I tell you, the Quail family will be diminished after that crowd gets here. The alarming report sent out from Texas is only too true. Governor Durbin, Mr. Tripp, Mr. Taylor and Mr. DePauw will meet in Chicago to-morrow. They will go by different routes so no one will see them get out of town and when they have assembled they will travel to Texas in a special car. For two weeks they will hunt over that State slaughtering game and everything from hummingbirds to bears will be for them if they can get it."

THEY WANT HUEGEL TO MOVE HIS SAND PUMPS

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS THINK HE IS MENACING NEW BRIDGE.

LEGAL POINTS ON SUBJECT

An Investigation to be Made by the Commissioners—A Legal Controversy Not Improbable.

There is promise of a legal controversy between the county commissioners and John Huegel, known in business as the Indianapolis Sand Company. The commissioners threaten to stop the work of Huegel's sand pumps, south of the new Washington-street bridge. Huegel says they can not stop his work there.

The commissioners are to investigate conditions along the Huegel sand machines, which, it is said, have created a great hole in White river that will cause the sand around the piers of the new Washington-street bridge to sink away, weakening them.

Huegel said today that he was pumping sand at a point 20 feet south of the bridge. He also said he would carry the matter to court if the commissioners attempted to stop his work there.

"My pumps will not stop," said Huegel, firmly. "I have leased the sand beds in the river and have the sanction of the Attorney-General of the State and the United States. The commissioners can not stop me."

Huegel charges that the threat of the commissioners to stop his pumps has political significance, because August M. Kuhn, late Democratic candidate for county treasurer, is the surety on his lease. He also says that the piers of the new bridge have been put down at the expense of the sand company, and that the commissioners' fear for their stability is due to that fact.

"If the piers are below the sand bed in the river, as the specifications require," said Huegel, "then there can be no danger, even if I pump every grain of sand from around them. Let the commissioners look into that."

Bad Feeling Existed. It is known that considerable bad feeling exists between Huegel and Fife & Son, the contractors for the substructure of the new bridge, and Huegel stands ready to accuse them of having failed to comply with the specifications. Huegel and the contractors had some trouble when work was first begun on the new bridge, and the former was compelled to move his sand pumps farther south. When the Indianapolis Sand Company placed its machines south of Washington street the question as to the right of the sand company to lift sand from the bed of White river was brought up. Huegel asked Secretary Root for his opinion. He referred it to Attorney-General Knox, the latter informed Huegel that the Government owned the waterway, but not the bed of the river. Attorney-General Knox cited the Federal statute to the effect that the land lines of the property owned by the Government are the river to the center of the river. Huegel says he has the Attorney-General's opinion to that effect. He also obtained a like opinion from Attorney-General Taylor. Huegel then leased the west half of the bed, belonging to the Morrison estate. The commissioners will make an investigation as to the bridge's endangers, in their opinion, they will ask Huegel to move.

PROSECUTOR NOT DEAD. Unfounded Report that Dr. Alexander Had Shot John Ruckelshaus.

Some one started a report to-day that Dr. J. C. Alexander had shot and killed John Ruckelshaus, prosecuting attorney, in the office of the county treasurer. Some one who heard it telephoned the police station. A squad of blue coats and detectives marched on the court house, but found no blood and no dead men.

THE MAYOR DISAGREES. He Does Not Wholly Indorse the Park Board's Boulevard Plans.

Mayor Bookwalter says he is not heartily in favor of the Park Board's scheme to get land for the Fall creek boulevard by condemnation proceedings, but that he will not oppose any plan that may lead to the construction of the parkway. The mayor thinks the cost of the boulevard should be entirely paid for out of the general funds.

Another College Ave. Complaint. O. L. Wade has complained to the Board of Works that College avenue has been covered with a layer of dirt and mud since the street railway company changed its tracks. He received a promise that the company would be compelled to "clean up" at once.

REPORT OF THE APPRAISERS.

Board Which Examined the Arsenal Ready to Report Its Valuation.

The local board of appraisers of the Arsenal property held a conference this afternoon. Another meeting will be held to-morrow. It is thought that the board's report to the War Department will be written at to-morrow's meeting and sent to Washington. It is understood that one of the four appraisers has thus far held for a higher valuation than the others, and that he may send in a minority report. A number of the real estate men that were called before the board to give testimony on valuation say that they placed $50,000 as the outside figure, and some thought the property worth much less than that amount.

OFFICIAL INSPECTION OF STATE INSTITUTIONS

GOV. DURBIN HEADS PARTY ON ITS TRIP TO LAFAYETTE.

A GAY TIME AT PURDUE

Students will March and Fire a Salute—Inspection of the State Soldiers' Home.

[Special to The Indianapolis News.] LAFAYETTE, Ind., November 24.—Governor Durbin, W. H. Hart, Auditor of State, and Representative Joseph C. Cravens, of Madison, arrived here this morning, and were met by State Senator Fremont Goodwine, of Williamsport, and Representative W. W. Marshall, of this city, the last three being members of the legislative committee appointed to inspect state institutions. The object of the visit here is the inspection of the State Soldiers' Home and Purdue University.

Charles Murdoch, general manager of the street railway company, placed a special car at the disposal of the visitors, and accompanied them to the Soldiers' Home. Here they were met by Col. G. R. Stormont, commander; James R. Carnahan, president of the board of trustees, and the other members of the board.

The president of the board of trustees, J. R. Carnahan, said that this included recommendations for various improvements, but that the specific request of the Legislature would not be made public until the Governor gave it out.

Visits were made to the living quarters and hospital, heating and laundry plants. Every department will be inspected before the party returns to this city tonight.

This evening Col. Samuel Murdoch, of the Governor's staff, will entertain the visitors, and the inspection of Purdue will begin to-morrow morning.

Demonstration at Purdue. At Purdue a great demonstration will be made in honor of the Governor and his party. President Stone last week appointed a committee composed of Commandant Ira L. Reeves and Professors Pence and Hatt to prepare a program in honor of the visitors. It is expected that the ceremonies will take place to-morrow morning, when the Governor's arrival will be marked by a salute of seventeen guns. The artillery of the cadet corps will have charge of this and the two field guns of the military department will be used.

Every student in the university will form a procession headed by the university band. Following the band in full uniform and equipment will be the two battalions of cadets, led by the freshmen and sophomore infantry. Next in line will be the engineer and the signal corps and artillery.

After the uniformed cadets will march the juniors and seniors of the University, led by the presidents of the two classes. In the rear will march members of the faculty and corps assistants. It is intended to have the Governor review the troops on the campus.

Where the Students Work. President Stone says it is his plan, after the ceremonies, to escort the visitors on a tour through the various buildings, libraries, class rooms and shops, and show them the 1,300 students at work. It is intended in this way to demonstrate to the Legislature that Purdue has outgrown its present maintenance fund and needs further appropriations for operating expenses. Just what requests will be made of the Legislature at the next session are unknown, but the strongest needs of the school are larger quarters for all departments and a gymnasium.

Fall from the Belt Bridge. John Deesch, a German gardener, living near the Madison road, south of the city, fell from the belt bridge over Pleasant run, last night. He fell about thirty feet, but the soft mud in the bed of the creek prevented serious injury. Dr. Moschelle, of the City Dispensary staff, took him to the City Hospital.

Bad Breath

is an accompaniment of nasal catarrh, by which many are annoyed besides the sufferers themselves.

It can not be cured so long as the mucous membrane of the nasal passages secretes that offensive, purulent matter that drops into the throat.

The way to cure it, radically and permanently, as thousands of sufferers have learned by their own experience, is to take which cures all forms of catarrh. Accept no substitute for Hood's, for no substitute acts like it. Get Hood's.

LYNCHED NEGRO BURIED.

Insurance Company May Sue Sheriff of Sullivan County.

The funeral of "Jim" Dillard, the negro lynched by the mob at Oaktown, was held this afternoon at Flanner & Buchanan's undertaking establishment. The body was buried in Crown Hill.

The negro had a life insurance policy of about $50, and it is thought the insurance company may sue the sheriff of Sullivan county on his bond for permitting the mob to take possession of the negro.

HANNA MACHINE IS FALLING TO PIECES

here that in recognizing J. Edward Addicks in Delaware, the President acted on the advice of Postmaster-General Payne, who undoubtedly thought it would be to the political advantage of his chief. Addicks was recognized because the President's reputation is even more unfavorable than that of Platt, Quay and Clarkson.

Conditions in the little State are not dissimilar from what they were when President McKinley refused to recognize Addicks. Speaking for the President, Postmaster-General Payne explains that Addicks was recognized because the President feels that the majority in the party in any State must be recognized. That is new doctrine for Roosevelt, who heretofore has maintained that there was but one thing to do when good and evil were presented side by side.

Many of the President's friends feel that he has had bad political advice. They agree that the fact that an "accident" Addicks was recognized above all else advisers told sired above all else Him to be made President by the votes of his fellow-countrymen, and was willing to lay aside some of his views as to politics and politicians, but they feel that he ought not to have been so quick to the himself up with the men whom, above all others, he had not been in sympathy with.

If reports be true, his advice from Payne and Clarkson was to "make terms" with Quay and Platt, secure the indorsement of Pennsylvania and New York and then depend on his popularity and the efforts of political friends to secure the support of the rest of the country. His friends feel that it would have been much more to his credit, and more in line with his past record if he had brought the country at large to his support first. With the country at large at his back, they declare, the Platts, the Quays, the Addickses and the Clarksons would, of political necessity, have fallen in line. As it is he is bound to go before the next convention as the candidate, primarily, of the obnoxious crowd.

The machine, under the direction of Payne and Clarkson, is being strengthened throughout the North. Senator Lodge and Secretary Moody, of the navy, promise to take care of New England. General Alger has been slated to look after the interests of the machine in Michigan. Senator Foraker has been designated as the President's political agent in Ohio. William Lorimer is expected to see that Illinois stays in line. Iowa is instructed to Secretary Shaw, of the Treasury Department, and ex-Senator Wolcott is expected to take care of things in Colorado.

Many of the older Republican members of the Senate are only passively interested in the new machine up to this time. The prevailing opinion is that Senator Hanna will keep hands off Senator Culom, of Illinois, has been gradually coming around to the Roosevelt idea, and Senator Allison, of Iowa, seems disposed, Iowa says, to accept the renomination of the President as a foregone conclusion and act accordingly.

Senators Elkins and Scott, of West Virginia, are still standing aloof. The last-named reiterated recently that he still believed Hanna would be the next candidate for President. So far Indiana Republicans have occupied the position of lookers on. In making up the new organization the Roosevelt managers count on the hearty support of Harry S. New and propose to continue him as a member of the national committee, unless he declines to serve.

It is worthy of note that in accepting the support of politicians with whom he has never held any views in common, the President has not alienated many, if any, of his old-time friends. They seem to have faith to believe that he will come out of the fire all right. The so-called "reformers" of the East have found some of his acts bitter pills, but they have managed to get them down and have come up smiling—still for the Rough Rider.

They seem to take the view that the exigencies of the political situation demanded that he do things which they could not freely approve. Even the anti-imperialists have been stamped out of approval. They seem to have an impression over some underground wire that he is "all right" on the Philippine question, whatever "all right" may mean.

As Arthur Hedrick, President intends to show himself to the people in the Northwest, and expects to go to the Pacific coast. His managers feel that whatever lukewarmness there may be "way out there" will be overcome by the tour. It would be foolish for anyone to say at this time that the indications are not favorable for the President's renomination by acclamation.
